

Texas FFA Association
APPROVED QUESTIONS
2007 Public Relations Leadership Development Event
Target Audience: Service Club

- 1. I was once an FFA member. One of my prized possessions was my FFA jacket. However, since then, that jacket was destroyed/lost. Would it be possible for me to get another one?
- 2. If I wanted to use my business to promote the program, could I print the emblem on a feed sack/etc. (questioner selects item) to do this?
- 3. I am running for the school board of trustees, and as a trustee, I would support agricultural education and the FFA 100%. Can I count on the support of the FFA in this election?
- 4. I would like to volunteer my time to help support the FFA and the local program. Is there some kind of organization that would be an avenue for that?
- 5. I saw a copy of the FFA magazine in the veterinarian's office. Can I get a subscription to the FFA magazine?
- 6. I think this is a fine program. What if I wanted to help keep it going financially. Is there an avenue for me to do that? Would my contribution be tax deductible?
- 7. We have a wholesale nursery operation here in town, and my daughter has a real interest in running the business after I retire. I would like her to be able to get some recognition and scholarship money with her horticulture interest. What are the opportunities in that area for her? (Question may be altered to accommodate some other form of agriculture such as but not limited to: veterinary medicine, specialty animal production, floral design, mechanics, aquaculture, wildlife habitat management or game animal production, forestry, etc.)
- 8. I have a student who is going to be in seventh grade over at the Middle School next year. What kind of opportunities are available for students that age?
- 9. I never have known much about the FFA, but I have always seen the blue coats. I guess they had those things when I was growing up in the 1950's, and they look pretty much the same today. What's some of the history of the blue jacket and is there some kind of ceremonial importance tied to them?
- 10. It seems like many times the FFA mentioned in the same breath with the 4-H Club. What is the relationship between the FFA and the 4-H? Are they the same or are they different from each other?

11. We home school our students. What opportunities are available for home school and private school students?

12. I noticed in the newspaper some students were doing FFA activities after they graduated from high school. Isn't FFA a high school organization?

13. We always enjoy going and watching the ball games and the band. What about the FFA? Are there some events we could watch?

14. Other organizations such as the Boys Scouts, Girl Scouts and others promote leadership development opportunities. What makes the FFA different from all of these other youth programs?

15. Our family lives in a subdivision where deed restrictions and city ordinances prohibit livestock. Can my son or daughter still have an opportunity to have a livestock project?

16. I was watching the National FFA Convention on RFD-TV awhile back. I was really impressed with the FFA officers who were running the convention? How does one get one of these positions at the national level?

17. If I wanted to access some FFA information on the internet, where could I go to find this information? Does our/your chapter have a website?

18. I think that the primary role of the school is to teach the basics—reading, writing and arithmetic. How is teaching agriculture and doing FFA relevant to the mission of the school?

19. When I was in school, there were no girls in the FFA. Now I notice a lot of girls. When did this happen? What percent of the FFA is female?

20. It seems that as our state and county become more urban, there would be less interest in FFA. How is FFA membership today compared to previous years?

21. I am a Human Resources Director for my company. In most organizations there is an emphasis on promoting diversity. Is this important to the FFA? What does your chapter do to be proactive and inclusive.
